

Follow Up and Consequences

Inappropriate behaviour is addressed in a fair and consistent manner which respects individual rights, responsibilities, age, maturity and special needs. Consequences are intended to be restorative rather than punitive in nature. It is also addressed in a manner that is intended to teach the expected behaviour and support a high standard of performance. School will take all reasonable steps to prevent retaliation against a student who has made a complaint about breached behavior.

Inappropriate behaviour typically has the following consequences:

- * A discussion of what has taken place and a review of expectations
- * A time out to reflect on behaviour
- * An opportunity to fix the issue if applicable
- * An opportunity to practice the expected behaviour with guidance
- * A phone call home to inform parents
- * Possible loss of privileges
- * Meeting with parents and school staff
- * Possible suspension
- * Possible expulsion
